

An Explanation

Here is a more detailed description of how the Dinner For Eight fellowships take place:

1. Each fellowship will have four dinners together, ideally one every 2-3 weeks—yet realistically, whenever you all can make it. Throughout the next few months, your fellowship stays together and meets together.
2. Generally speaking, each dinner will be at a different person's home each time. However, not everyone who is a part of the Dinner For Eight Group needs to host a dinner and some homes may be repeated.
3. Meals should begin with a word of prayer.
4. There should be a point in each dinner/evening where your group determines the next scheduled dinner date, time, location.
5. The host/hostess is responsible for the meal arrangements when the group meets in their home. Others may help with dinner items and should be in contact with the host/hostess as to what to bring.
6. Generally speaking, children under 18 stay home (or with a baby-sitter). If someone in the group has a creative solution that might include bringing the child (for example, another family's older teen watching everyone's youngsters), that's fine. But by and large, these dinners are just for adults. Thank you.

Dinner For Eight - 2010!

Dinner For Eight Groups are private dinner fellowships consisting of eight adults who meet together about four times per year for dinner (or brunch), typically rotating from home to home. The conversation and fellowship is excellent and the relaxed meeting schedule make these groups highlights throughout the year.
